

Discipleship

By: Paige Peters

I took this photo at a FAM location which is Family Assistance Ministries where brother, mom, and I all volunteer at. At this location we are sorting, moving, and shipping food to families and more. I go on Saturdays when I can and volunteer for a few hours.

The Catholic Social Teaching being displayed is the Option for the Poor and Vulnerable, because we are supposed to needs of the poor and vulnerable before first; by helping give food to those unable to get enough food to sustain themselves.

this is one of my soccer teammates and I buying food with our team to donate to a food bank in orange county; the organization is RSM Cares Food Pantry.

The Catholic Social Teaching displayed here is also the Option for the Poor and Vulnerable because we are putting the needs of those who are hungry first.

this was also with my soccer team as we did an adopt a family. This photo shows my team and the presents we were wrapping

The Catholic Social Teaching displayed is the Option for the Poor and Vulnerable as we buy and wrap gifts that were either asked for or we thought they deserved to have. We not only bought essentials like hygiene products but also things they wanted for Christmas.

In my religion class at school, we went on a field trip to volunteer at Second Harvest for a day; this photo just shows the part of the area we were in. we sorted food and boxed it up to be sent out to food pantries

Once again, the Catholic Social Teaching being displayed is the Option for the Poor and Vulnerable, we are helping serve people who need food. We spent our day helping get food to those that need it

Me and my school lacrosse team spent the afternoon after a game and helped make boxes for kids suffering with cancer and hair loss. We made cards and stuffed the boxes with fun things for the kids and then drove them to hospitals. We did this through the organization Prevailing Crown

The Catholic Social Teaching displayed is the Call to Family, Community, and Participation, because all humans deserve the right to be a part of society no matter what. we are all people of God and the kids we served are not any different. Everybody is a big community, and every human life is valuable

This is a photo of me volunteering at my middle school, Serra Catholic. I was helping fundraise money, which would go to families who either couldn't afford tuition or needed financial help. The photo is me with my mother at the event

The Catholic Social Teaching displayed is the Call to Family, Community, and Participation. All people deserve the right to an education no matter how much money they have. This project helped families that couldn't afford for their children to go to school.
